

Trouble Minded

"Nature's Failure"

Visit "Nature's Failure" on MotoLyrics.com

When you were born all eyes were focused on you You were a new born star You were curious and had always something to do But now the time has come You're slowly fading away
And there's no one there to courage you to live another day

You're sittin on the roof again
Desperately wondering 'bout what to do Just staring at the stars of mr big blue sky
Oh, I wonder why
You failed,
you've become mother nature's biggest mistake

you've missed a chance Don't you see?
You could have been loved loved and keen
You've neglected your personality
Why don't you listen to yourself
Is it really so hard to be Cause now you're just a nothing
Just a drag on everyone and everything

Why are you always hiding behind your long ugly hair Have you actually tried to figure out what the world really looks like Why are you such a pessimistical hypochondrical big yellow teethed girl Cause that's what you are You're a pessimistical hypochondrial big yellow teethed girl

You're mother nature's biggest mistake

Visit Trouble Minded page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.