Your eyes
Your eyes
Your eyes search for me
Your eyes search for me
Your eyes search for me
Your eyes search for me
Your eyes
Your eyes search for me

For so long I've wanted to come home
Held back by lies of serpents and tongues of brothers
Turning a child into an enemy
Turning open arms into closed fists

I could see the reflection in the tears
That made their way down your face
Onto the ground I kneel upon
They form a river that overtakes me compassion envelops me

I forgive and release
Forgive, release
Forgiven, released
