Too many drivers in too many cars.
Too many lost souls drinking in too many bars.
Too many heroes stepping on too many toes.
Too many yes-men nodding when they really mean no.

Too many lives each cat can't lose.
We've got too many too.
Yes too many too.

Too much sunshine. Too many drops of rain.
Too many equal and average children will all grow up
the same.
Too many [???] politicians holding too many views.
Too many questions but there are answers too few.

Too many lives each cat can't lose.
We've got too many too.
Yes too many too.

If I were a liar, yes, and you were a cheat,
There would be many places where we all could meet,
Too many temples where we could worship the beast,
Where he would think he had the most - in fact he has the least.

Too many lives each cat can't lose.
I've got too many too.
Yes too many too.
I've got too many too. (Too many too.)
I've got too many too.
I've got too many too.
I've got too many too.
I've got too many too
