Tonight the energy's high, off and running Up there they do it right, they're shining They make it seem easy now, but we all know they've done their time
So you knew them back in your high school days and you came up close I heard you say And I wonder now why you keep hitting them from behind
When the best dressed finished last you stood behind
them
Now the best dressed finished first and you don't like
Does it make you sad that you didn't end up like them?
Do you think they'll miss you when you're not beside
them?
You've got your own thing going slow, it started okay but not as bright You're trying! It's hard to start it off right, but you haven't put in your time Instead of kissing up, maybe try and make some friends
With the ones you had, maybe make amends
If you keep going like you've been going kiss it goodbye!
When the best dressed finished last you stood behind
Now the best dressed finished first and you don't like
Does it make you sad that you didn't end up like them?
Do you think they'll miss you when you're not beside
them?
