The author, reporter of "The Red Army PRAVDA" newspaper, wrote this verses as a private letter to his wife only couple of hours after miraculously escaping the German troops. Red army regiment headquarters in a village were nearly blocked by invaded nazi tanks and with heavy fighting commanders with the stuff and reporters break through and under artillery fire crossed the mine field, crossed the river and joined the main forces of the defending Soviet regiment. It was on 27 November 1941 only 45 kilometres to the East from Moscow center - from the Kremlin.

Thanks to Andrei once more for the corrections and these extra information.
