Well, she wants in
And she wants to get out
And the city it calls her name
And the scars that she hides
With those stars in her eyes
Like the echoes they're all the same

Because it's all been done before
Yes, it's all been done before

And you can let this one
But when the sun doesn't show
And I want you to be here
And oh now the stars never shine
And the streets are all tired
I want you to be here

Well, she sick of this town
And the rain that falls down
But her pride just won't let her see
That when she swears that she's made
With a heart that won't break
She's dead but she still believes

That it's all been done before
Yes, it's all been done before

And you can let this one go
But now the sun never shows
And I want you to be here
And now the stars never shine
And the streets are all tired
I want you to be here

They can tell you that they want you to
Stay for what you've done
They can tell you that it's alright to
Be what you've become
When you go
You know
It's for sure

You can let this one go
You can try on your own
But I want you to be here
Now the stars never shine
And the streets are all tired
I want you to be here
Well, I tried to be quiet
But my heart is on fire
And I want you to be here

I want you to be here
