

Sparrow And The Workshop

"Against The Grain"

Visit "Against The Grain" on MotoLyrics.com

Where to begin, where does it end Oh don't say you've lost me again out on a limb and caught in between Where I am and where I should be

I'm lost in the game
my vision is weaker but my hunger stays the same
I'm lost in the game
I wish I could say, I wish I could say

I've gone against the grain again and thrown my caution to the wind and laughed away my enemies and raised my arms into the breeze it carries me away again and throws me right back in this mess and how do I know where do I go when did it start, where does it end Where to begin,
where does it end
Oh don't say you've lost me again.

Out on a limb and caught in between
where I am and where I should be

I'm lost in the game
my vision is weaker, but my hunger stays the same.
I'm lost in the game
I wish I could say, I wish I could say..
I've gone against the grain.

Visit Sparrow And The Workshop page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.