

Sparrow And The Workshop

"Spitting Daggers"

Visit "Spitting Daggers" on MotoLyrics.com

Your heart was a game I used to play but your face fades away and I'm losing faith in my desire to piece you back together

But suddenly now you're back to haunt my mind and fuel my cruel side Why here, why this time I'm settled in my life and loving what I've got.

Words are daggers in your mouth you spit hard and knock me down thicker skin would hold you back but I've been weak and memories of cuts you've made have never really healed

You saved everything I ever made and you threw it in my face and you said you never would forget but now you've changed your mind.
And furious fights and guilt trips were rife as thrilling as it was the thrill has lost its charm And mirrors and smoke have shattered and gone beyond us in a rage and saved me from a big mistake

Words are daggers in your mouth
you spit hard and knock me down memories have kept them warm and now you're here I raise my head and spit them back
as fast as you can run.

Visit Sparrow And The Workshop page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.