Brokedown on a Tuesday night
Stuck inside the same old fight
Feeling like you've been through this before
And storming out of your front door

And this is not your day
It shouldn't have to be this way
You pull your jacket hard against your head
And face the rain

You walk down to the corner store
You don't know what you go there for
The one hand wants to drink away the pain
The other wants to feel it all again

And you're a mess inside
Things are gone that you can't hide
So let your troubles slide
And I will try to break your fall

Yeah, well, alright
You saved me from another night
Without somebody next to mine
Yeah, well, alright
You wake up with the sun and I'll be gone

There's nothing left for you to fear
Circumstance has brought you here
Words don't even have to be exchanged
Nothing needs to be explained

And you can blame it all
On every hand that let you fall
And one too many nights
That you've been wasting by the phone

So disconnect your head from this
And fall into the stranger's kiss
We can take a holiday from all this
Suffocating self control

And you can be my bride
If only for a Tuesday night
'Cause someday I might just be that vacation
You've been aching for

Yeah, well, alright
You saved me from another night
Without somebody next to mine
Yeah, well, alright
You wake up with the sun and I'll be gone
