

Spill Canvas, The "Bracelets"

Visit "Bracelets" on MotoLyrics.com

I found fountains of imagery that are passing through me like a knife From a group of friends that prefer to attack from the back
I'm trying to grasp concepts of your dimensions
While my universe is laced around your wrist
I am the bracelet you sport
I am everything that you have ever missed, and more

I was hoping I could tell you this with two feet on the ground
But I don't think I can talk, because I'm not very stable right now

In this dream that I had....
"You can't kill heroes"-that's what we said to them
"You can't kill us"
With our instruments broken before us
And the boys in the line they begin to count to five
And the trigger pulls The bullets pepper the brick wall behind our heads and the smoke, it fills the air
The captain yells to cease fire
And the squad begins to wait and stare
As the dust clears the air, and we're still standing
With smiles on both our faces
We spit their faulty ammo to the ground and remind them once again
With smiles on both our faces
We spit their faulty ammo to the ground and remind them once again that you can't kill heroes

I was hoping I could tell you this with two feet on the
ground
But I don't think I can talk, because I'm not very stable
right now
No, I'm not very stable right now
No, I'm not very stable right now

