

Spleen, The

"Give life a chance"

Take time
Run away from this room
You'll not support the gloom
You're not able to assume

This real need to slip away
Maintains the need to pay
For a kiss

For that day in May
Why don't you give life a chance?
Oh, please let her appease and soothe your feelings
So fast
You fade away, you need some respite
There's no fight to ignite

Take time
Conscious of where we are
Before you slide too far
Guide your way forget the stars

Allow you to see her grace
Define you in her space
Remove the mask from your face

Why don't you give life a chance?
Oh, please let her appease and soothe your feelings
So fast
You fade away, you need some respite
There's no fight to ignite

It's time to
Remember what you knew
You will never see from your knees

Why don't you give life a chance?
Oh please let her appease and soothe your feelings?

So fast
You fade away you need some respite
There's no fight to ignite
