"Changing Colors"

Like waves across the rollin' sea
Wind across the land
Like the shades of the fallin' leaves
And the ever shifting sand
Thunder in the distance, passing of a storm
Out of the twilight come the strangers at the door

Refrain
Changing Colors, changing colors,
Ooh, on a sunset sky.

Lonely shadows on streets of gold
The writing on the wall
The ones who one day might enrich the souls
Of those who wish they were not there at all
Survivors of empires who defied genocide
A stream of conscious, and irreversible tide

Refrain

We can close down our borders, and close down our hearts
No one's taking over, just wanna take part
Slowly but surely it's gonna be all right
Changing colors, what a beautiful sight...(yeah)
