So strange how it changes through the yeas
How sweet the memories and souvenirs
In a moment all the pieces just blew away
Lost forever
All the daydreams, lay shattered by your side
All you cling to is empty love and pride
All your comfort is all the tears you cried
That echo round this lonely heart

I built my world around you
Dreamed of a life beside you
I laid my heart upon the ground
My sweet and sensitive thing

What price the luxuries I own
That breaks a high, a heart, a home
In a lifetime it's the only thing I achieved
Lost forever
All the sweet dreams lay shattered by my side
All I cling to is empty love and pride
All the comfort is all the tears I've cried
That echo round this lonely heart

I built my world around you
Dreamed of a life beside you
I laid my heart upon the ground
My sweet and sensitive thing

I laid a deep foundation
Displayed a new elation
I bared my soul to all the world
My sweet and sensitive thing
