

Stana Katic

"Simone's Song"

Visit "Simone's Song" on MotoLyrics.com

I see the sadness in your eyes is more than you let on They ask where love is gone
Was it some magic or a twist, a spell that crossed the stars Whatever happened here we are
I gave up hoping oh, so long ago, I can't remember even when But I wonder could this be the one who'll make me live again

To love and lose and love again, like seasons come and go It's what hearts are made for,
it's all we need to know

What makes you put up all you've got To gamble with your heart
To lose and try again
Lady luck might have a day
No matter how it spins
The house always wins
To lie with you under a hundred moons, memories that time could not erase I'd give it all to feel the sun again,
I'll let it warm my face
I should not fear the end of love or worry about what's past
The secret is to live each day as if it were the last

To love and lose and love again, as sure as planets turn Our faith in love, that's everything, French Fie-toi a l'amour c'est tout
To lose and love only to lose again
It isn't bad if you believe that now and always you'll stay in my heart Mon chÃ"re, I could never leave, no I will never leave
I will never leave you

