I saw the sun and felt a chill
You're back in town
Lookin' scared and beautiful
And askin' if I'm around
Those demons you're runnin' from
Just leave 'em and head for the sun
When the world stopped turnin'
I kept it burnin'

Tonight our song begins again
Another dance for me and you
One more chance to see it through
I could swear I'm not missin' this crazy rhythm
That left me singin' the blues
But in the end our song begins again

Whatever rivers you had to cross
Or mountains you had to climb
Come on in get out of the rain
I'm lockin' the door this time
The moon is all we need
Two heartbeats to get us there
And one more kiss to answer all our prayers.

Tonight our song begins again
And whenever I'm with you
It always sounds brand new
And you know when I hold you
You'll remember I told you
One day you'll hear it too
In the end our song begins again

I'll quiet the storms - you'll feel the thunder
I'll hold back the tide - we're goin' under I'm blinded by love but feel the wonder still
And always will - with you

Tonight our song begins again
Another dance for me and you
One more chance to see it through
I could swear I'm not missin' this crazy rhythm

That left me singin' the blues
But in the end our song begins again
In the end our song begins - again
Tonight our song begins again.
