The reason that I'm calling you is to let you know I thought it through,
and after much debate in fact I guess I'll take you back.

I've heard from friends you've moved around and maybe you have settled down so when you get this message please call me back.

It's been a rough few years for me,
I moved back with my family,
but I'll still take you back.

And maybe it's too late to call or maybe it's the alcohol,
but I think I want you back.
I guess I'll take you back.

I realize it's been a while you might be married or have a child.
So give me your address and I can help you pack.

I need you worse now than before,
I'll offer you the chance once more.
Cuz everthing considered, guess I'll take you back.

I know that things ended bad,
but let's stop living in the past.
I think I want you back.

And let's forget the things we said,
and start again with clearer heads.
I guess I want you back.
I guess I'll take you back.

Please don't make me ask again,
my calling card is nearly spent.
And life without you has been so bad.
I don't require apologizes- just think of what I'm offering

I think I want you back.
I guess I'll take you back.
