i wanna be home
where is just home
where moons surround me alone and i follow my own

saturn is the way
i met saturn on my way
jupiter waves me obey
mars couldn't be bothered and i have a break on venus where i meet my mirror and she smiles at me

and i wave her hello
and suddenly i see him as well
but he looks kind of different his hair is short
and he reminds me
of myself

and i follow my dreams
and i pick up well
remember the lives
which never tell

i wanna go home
where i'll just be alone with my own

(and an old friend comes along his name is neptune
moon is coming as well
and whispers little things in my ears and afterwards i try to draw what it means sometimes i need a translator) sometimes i have a bath in the sun where it's not too cold sometimes i dance in with saturn and we hold my dream

life is like a ping-pong ping-pong
and i jump in-between now i sit in my satellite and i'm delighted
