first question
can you fly away from dreams at night?
can you come to grips with what you feel inside? my mind is dimming my mind is blind to my thoughts just let it ride let ride don't burn away save your better self for your better days and don't waste your time and all of my love for you god damn look away

take 'em where the wind blows take 'em where the wind blows you down

second question what do you know about your soul?
i saw you empty it out just to shake off the cold your life is dimming your life you can't find but your head tells you to let it ride let it ride last question what do you know your soul is cold i finally took you out i finally took my toll on you the plague is eating as it multiplies but you insist just let it ride let it ride
