"This Way"

Hold the line, hold me up
Drink with me from this bitter cup
I'm slipping fast, I need a place to stand
Reach for me with your helpless hand
There's a clock on the wall
Reminding me that time will run away
We will not pass this way again
Tomorrow finds us far away
Takes us where we've never been
On a day like today, I could only cry
Curse this world, and wonder why
On a day like today, I would play any price
To just fly away and never think twice
But all the clouds drift apart
Reminding me that time will run away
Every beat of our hearts
Reminding us
That time will run away
