[Verse 1] Homie told me life is precious best lemons in the moment I ponder for a second, decided he was zoning Now that's good life living, the present is a gift I thought about it deeper hit the reefer and a spliff And my thoughts got wider, longer, stronger Thought about my world through my window California People live and die everyday, it's the way Let the good Lord made us so there's nothing else to say, it's OK Do your thing for the queens and the kings It's the meantime, in-between time that'll bring Consternation, it's like a kick in the caboose We forget about the blessings, consequences and the truth Yesterday is gone, tomorrow hasn't come The only style is the now that'll get you what you want I said Yesterday is gone, tomorrow hasn't come The only style is the now that'll get you what you want [Hook] This is autobiographic, real non-fiction Hands on my sack for this limited edition Let my nuts hang and of course the beat bang Zion I the click, ain't a damn thing change And I got a new style We get it right now, we get it right now, we get it right now I said, I got a new style We get it right now, we get it right now, we get it right now [Verse 2] The only thing I've ever know are the seconds in the day Nothing ever stays the same, everything will fade away Galaxy, cosmos, universal cause Stop, feel the pause, heed the universal laws Love is like the glue, keeps us stuck me and you We journey through the stew just trying to find the clue Life is like a road, it's full of many signs But the grass is always greener when it's on the other side I hide in the bushes of the time that's allotted me Gamble with fate, I might win the lottery That's my intention, I leap through dimensions If time is a question demand an extension Of knowledge and wisdom, criminals we've been them Hustlers we've been them but now it's time we win some Think that we must be out to lunch But I'm flyer than a mother and I'm high from the funk [Hook] [Breakdown, x2] Just live for today Anything you ever wanted to, you know it's right up under you They'll never keep you running to, the time is right because of you Just live for today
