

Atlas Volt

"Find Myself Lost"

Visit "Find Myself Lost" on MotoLyrics.com

Once I found myself lost
On the straight road of my life
I went astray and I thought
Why on earth do I drive
On an empty tank of love?
I drove myself crazy
Unable to recall
What I was looking for

I didn't know where to go
And I was getting nowhere
Afraid of my own shadow
I don't know why I got so scared
Leading myself smack into the wall
I drove myself crazy
Unable to slow down
On the verge of a breakdown

So unaware that I wasn't alone taking that road
Lost in despair looking for a milestone
To find my way home
When I found myself lost

It felt so unreal
Behind the wheel
Couldn't see clear
Losing control

In need of direction
I was trapped in the dead-end of my quest
Couldn't find my location
My whole existence reassessed
Before too long you crossed my path and
Then, I draw the conclusion
That the road to love
Was under construction

You were in my blind spot
And I couldn't see you all that time.
I should have known better
That traffic jam was just a sign

While driving almost side by side
We were a collision
Waiting to happen
When we found ourselves lost

Driving down the wrong side of this foggy road
I put the brakes on
Then you turned my life around
Saving me from self-destruction
And the affliction of tunnel vision
You revealed me to myself,
Now I understand you were my destination
Since we got each other now
We found our way back through the unknown
To this place that we call home

Now that you found me
I found myself
Finders keepers
Now I'm all yours

Visit Atlas Volt page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.