She never really has to wait for an answer
It's always waiting for her
You'd do anything for a chance to romance her
Ain't that the way of the world
Everything comes so easy, every door opens with a smile
I could see it in her eyes, there's no surprise, she don't need me
Or anyone else that's just her style

(Chorus)

She's infinity rising, she catches your eye
And there's just no denying that she's one of a kind
She walks in like a headline, she's always front page
She's infinity rising in her own gilded cage

She has a way of letting you uncover,
Just what she wants you to see
In your reflection you may start to discover She's what you want her to be
If you look any closer, there is pain that lives between the lines
And you start to find, no one really knows her
And her smile's out of place with the tears that she hides

(Chorus)

She won't show what's inside her
But quiet desperation comes to mind,
She's just putting on a show and she's a survivor Everything looks so fine when you're looking from outside

(Chorus)

She's infinity rising, always surprising
She's never, she's never, she's never realizing
That her lost could be found
Come out of your cage
