It started with the school dance, a simple little kiss This feeling that I'm feeling, does suppose to feel like this
A little bit of passion, a tender kind of touch
And you're afraid this moment will never mean enough

And I will put my left hand on the Bible, my right hand
on my heart
You can be the key to my survival, my light house in the dark
And I will take an oath to always be there and I swear I'll never lie
With God, my judge and jury, I testify

I've never gone the distance, it's always been too hard But if you promise me forever, I know I can go that far

And I will put my left hand on the Bible, my right hand
You can be the key to my survival, my light house in the
And I will take an oath to always be there and I swear I'll
never lie
With God, my judge and jury, I testify

You with the moon light shining on your skin, I feel just like a child
Baptized again, so hold me close, never let me go

And I will take an oath to always love you and I swear I'll never lie
With God, my judge and jury, not God, not judge, not jury
I testify, ooh, I testify, hey, I testify, I testify, oh
