Oh, come on

Woke up this morning, went to the window, saw a rainy day
Feeling the pressure from all of the things, I gotta face today
All of my days are totally crazy can't do nothing right
It's an ordinary day

Every minute feels like an hour slowly creeping by All of this stress, but I do my best to take it all in stride
I need to decide, need to unwind all these things are on my mind
It's an ordinary day

Things are crazy but it's alright, you make me feel alive again
When it rains you are the sunshine that lights me up from deep within
I can finally treasure this love beyond a measure
You've given me the pleasure of an ordinary day
An ordinary day, ooh, yeah

Pounding the pavement, another engagement
Gonna make it there on time Hitting the side walk, hearing the small talk of people passing by Wondering why, gotta rewind think I gotta clear my mind
It's an ordinary day

What are the chances I've locked glances with a passer by Oh, this stranger must be an angel 'cause he smiled
I wonder if he knows everything I know
That there is life in an ordinary day

Things are crazy but it's alright, you make me feel alive again
When it rains you are the sunshine that lights me up from deep within
I can finally treasure this love beyond a measure

You've given me the pleasure of an ordinary day,
ordinary day

Things are crazy but it's alright, you make me feel alive
You are the only real sunshine that lights me up from deep within

Things are crazy but it's alright, you make me feel alive again

When it rains you are the sunshine that lights me up from deep within

I can finally treasure this love beyond a measure
You've given me the pleasure of an ordinary day,
ordinary day

An ordinary day
