

Steve Wilson"When Walking Downtown"

Visit "When Walking Downtown" on MotoLyrics.com

She changes your mind when you see the joy in her eyes
It makes you feel She draws your eyes from all the things that have made you numb and makes you feel If I could open up my heart and let her out I would never have to sing her name aloud
It was your "hello" that kept me hanging on every word and you "good-bye" that keeps me listening for your voice around each corner
I'll sing songs to help me stay up all night
I don't want to go to sleep I'll sing songs and hope you're listening carefully and know exactly what I mean It's the song you must seek out when your night has just begun
In the distance you can find the lips from which was sung a melody

Visit Steve Wilson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.