You know that in our history,
I guess there always seems to be
some schematics showing me
your front to back and in between.

Why are you so kind
When every time I think that my fuse is going to blow?

There are secret circuits that we share,
keeping us coming off impaired.
With all the crazy things we say,
from crossing wires in our brains.

Why are you so kind
When every time I think that my fuse is going to blow?

It's all the same but I guess it's okay because I'm always scared of change.

Why are you so kind
When every time I think that my fuse is going to blow?

In our history,
I guess there always seems to be
some schematics showing me
your front to back and in between.
You give me something I can read into
So where are you leading me?
