It's that old long distant heartache
It's those same old white line blues
They start coming on
When I'm too far gone from you.

And I know what you must be thinking
I know how those thoughts can run
When you're far apart
Trust can start to come undone

But in my eyes there could be no other woman
In my nights I dream of only you
In my life from here to the horizon
I see no one else but you

So put those questions far behind you
And hang your doubts up with the phone
Girl I'm lonely but til I'm home with you
I'll be lonely alone

Just to think I could be lying
Lying your arms tonight
Makes temptations run
But there is only one that's right

But in my eyes there could be no other woman
In my nights I dream of only you
In my life from here to the horizon
I see no one else but you
