I'd catch the next train going anywhere
If I knew you where there
I'd swim across the ocean and sail the seven seas
Just to have you here with me
All I ever asked for, and all I ever wanted
Now has flashed before my eyes
So many broken promises
When you run out of time
The morning that you left I felt a pain no one could heal
I wish it wasn't real
And I can still remember all the laughter that we shared
Life is so unfair
You lifted me up and fueled my dreams
Now yesterday's gone, when I breathe, I whisper your name in memory
Cause yesterday's gone, but I know, I can move on
From that cold December rain
Straight from my heart, I wish you could see
How I've changed
How can I get through another show
Without your face in the crowd?
Still feel that chill in the air
When the lights go down Nothing can be said to make this all go away, just take it day by day
Every time I fall behind I think about your smile, and I go another mile
You lifted me up and fueled my dreams
Now yesterday's gone, when I breathe, I whisper your
name in memory
Cause yesterday's gone and I know, I can move on
From that cold December rain
Straight from my heart, I wish you could see
How I've changed
Oh the world still turns
What does it mean?
I silence the scream,
It feels like I'm falling down
What does it mean?
What does it mean?
You lifted me up and fueled my dreams

Now yesterday's gone, When I breathe I whisper your
name in memory
Cause yesterday's gone
You opened my eyes and set me free
But yesterday's gone, now the wind whispers your name in memory
Cause yesterday's gone, and I know, I can move on
From that cold December rain
Straight from my heart, I wish you could see
How I've changed
