When all is gone in death and dust
The name of you will always carry on
We're caught between the shadow and the light
I know we will be guided by the dark

Into the wild we went
Unaware of the hell they sent
We're crossing the wastelands again
Lost kids coming home

When all is gone in death and dust
The name of you will always carry on
We're caught between the shadow and the light
I know we will be guided by the dark

Then we beat the burgioning shore
The crimson waves are breaking in whites
The lace of our tumbeling hearts
Rebuilding again

When all is gone in death and dust
The name of you will always carry on
We're caught between the shadow and the light
I know we will be guided by the dark

Now behind these words of rage
There's just another human face
If you paint a cross in our hearts
We'll be guided away from the dark
When your voice is heard again
We will surely remember your name
It is ringing loud and clear
For every single heart to hear

When your voice is heard again
We will surely remember your name
It is ringing loud and clear
For every single heart to hear
For every single heart to hear
