

Storm, The

"Drops In The Ocean"

Visit "Drops In The Ocean" on MotoLyrics.com

As we walk in the morning light always looking for forgiveness in our hearts

As we hide in the garden ever after we will never give a reason there is always something better

But I know that there will never be someone quite like you and I you promise
that no one never will come between the two of us
the two of us

I'll be there through all of your worries
i will stand through all of your tears Just when you think that hope it has left you for another don't you cry, baby don't you cry

Some might say we are braver than brave but it's a matter of believing in your heart

It's such a shame when you don't know what you're missing
'till it's gone
I've been told that nothing will last for good

But I know
that there will never be someone quite like you and I
you promise
that no one never will come between the two of us
the two of us

I'll be there through all of your worries
i will stand through all of your tears
Just when you think that hope
it has left you for another
don't you cry, baby don't you cry

