

Storyteller, The "Power Within"

Visit "Power Within" on MotoLyrics.com

Once there was a man, who lived alone in the shadows
He had no place that he could call home, and at night he slept all alone But one day the God looked his way and saw the great might within him.
He gave him the power he needed to become what he once had been

And so the legend begins of a story that's older the time itself Yes the greatest of sorcerers is he.
That' the way it always will be

The powers he's got controls all living beings
He sees in the future and rules over fire and winds Yes the powers he's got were equal with gods
And the kingdom was his 'cause he has the key

He lived for hundreds of years, and the evil one watched him with fear Cause the powers that he held within, they had to let the silence begin
They did a ritual that put him to sleep,
'cause they knew he couldn't be killed
In oblivion he disappeared, until one day when he shall awake
They did a ritual that put him to sleep,
'cause they knew he couldn't be killed
In oblivion he disappeared, until one day when the sorcerer awakes

Visit Storyteller, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.