As they follow the road of insanity
They have all been misled
Convinced that the ones that possess the skill to heal
Are disciples of Satan

All but lies, spread by men with desires
Not willing to share all the power and wealth that they had Dark schemes they planned, and started a plague in the land
A hunt for the witches and warlocks which all must die

And now they're lost in the storm
On a quest to kill the unknown
But all they found were pain and sorrow
A deed that can't be undone
And now they're lost in the storm
On a quest to kill the unknown
But all they found were pain and sorrow
A deed that can't be undone

Fear and death in their hands, the judge from God Determined to serve his will, but what was his will?
They're all been misled and deceived
Cause the bloody hours in time were created by man

And now they're lost in the storm
On a quest to kill the unknown
But all they found were pain and sorrow
A deed that can't be undone
And now they're lost in the storm
On a quest to kill the unknown
But all they found were pain and sorrow
A deed that can't be undone
