If you can see what's shining through I'd like to know just where you're looking to never words I meant to say but everybody goes a different way

If I see only black and white telling me there is something not quite right everything will slip away I'm losing sight and the face that I knew before still she hurts me only so much more do you hear me?
'cause you always seem to blind my heart it's not a story with an end and all the pages show the time we've spent moving slowly walk on by when someone else can't lock your love inside when I see only black and white

everything has slipped away I'm losing sight
still she hurts me only so much more do you hear me when you turn away and close the door?

it seems a crime to walk on by when someone else can't have you're love inside if you see only black and white would you tell me there is something not quite right everything has slipped away I'm losing sight

still she hurts me only so much more do you hear me when you turn away and blind my heart?
