to walk around.

You turn your head away

when I try to make out.

Got so many options to choose from

but nothing will ever do for you this time.

It's not easy now

to stay onboard,

to drag the past out into the light.

The point is hard to see sometimes but we all dance to forget.

She said, she said

you need to dance boy

and learn to live today.

She said, she said

it's in your head boy

better go and wash it away.

It's not always me you know

I'm not leaving you hanging by the edge

And whoever knew

that this would pass.

It shouldn't have been at all.

She said, she said
you need to dance boy
and learn to live today.

She said, she said
it's in your head boy
better go and wash it away.

In any case
even with all the facts to hand.

Nothing quite prepares you for the strange.

She said, she said
you need to dance boy
and learn to live today.

She said, she said
it's in your head boy
better go and wash it away.
