"Trigger Happy"

Come join us, when there's nothing
When there's nothing left to lose
We're family, the broken ones
Our bonds bleed true
Through darkness, we scream for light
Our arms are open wide
Taste your flesh, not like the rest
There's an open chair for you tonight

Our final masterpiece, a broken shell of what I once loved
Something has happened here
So tell me what have we become

In your sleep you dream of parting ways
And cutting those ties that bring you down
Step forward, cleanse yourself
Of all you hate and devils unbound
I've been dying for some time now
My own mother wouldn't recognize my face
I've turned into what they all want to replace

Our final masterpiece, a broken shell of what I once
loved
Something has happened here
So tell me what have we become

With your hands around my neck
We're gonna make this work
With your finger on the trigger gonna try
Try to make this work
With my eyes pleading red we're gonna
We're gonna make this work
Yeah, yeah
When I'm rising from the dead
We're gonna, we're gonna make this work, gonna make this work now

We're gonna make this work, we're gonna make this work x2

Our final masterpiece, a broken shell of what I once
loved
Something has happened here
So tell me what have we become

Come join us, when there's nothing
We're family, the broken ones
Our bonds bleed true
