What if a war could never be lost
What if this train would never stop
What if we couldn't get up in the morning

What if we smell that roses are red
What if we heard no sounds instead
What if we couldn't get up in the morning

What if a war could never be one
What if a plane would crash in your home
What if we couldn't get up in the morning

Would everybody be the seem
Can we afford to play this game
What if there were no words
To talk to pray to your God

It's the way we look
It's the way we want each other to be
It's the way we give
It's the way we take
It's the same way for you and me
It goes to show that we don't know
It goes to show that we don't know

What if a war could never be lost
What if this train would never stop
What if we couldn't get up in the morning

What if we smell that roses are red
What if we heard no sounds instead
What if there were no words
To talk to pray to your God

It's the way we look
It's the way we want each other to be
It's the way we give
It's the way we take
It's the same way for you and me
It goes to show that we don't know
It goes to show that we don't know
It goes to show that we don't know

It goes to show that we don't know

What we smell that roses are red
What if we heard no sounds instead
What if we couldn't get up in the morning

Would everybody be the same
Can we afford to play this game
Is there a God who plays
With dolls, with cars and A-bombs
