The hot summer air is fading away as the first night stars appear the warm sand feels like heaven and you have no cares, no fear the soothing sound of the ocean waves and the seagulls mournfull call it couldn't have been a nicer night just the two of you you start to kiss first light, than deep and the only words you hear all night "yes, I love you too"
you gaze into each others eyes the moon, your only light you wish this night would never end you're hugging closer than ever before you feel your hearts beating fast hot breath on each others neck and the butterfly kisses on your cheeks you lay all night thinking how lucky you are to have found each other and come so far
