Seems like only yesterday I thought i had my Life together
Aint it funny how things change
For it is to day I feel uncertain about my whole world
All once familiar is now strange
I've been dependant on things I once rejected
I'm rejecting all I belived
I'm so open minded That it leaves me undecided
Forever caught between two extreams
I belive

I found some time to get away on my own
I came to a place where no one Knows my name
With the hope it would help me see things clearer
It has for now I just relized it was a plnned escape
I belive
