Saying i love you forever, wont hold us together
A dove and a feather wont better our love
Or recover us ever
But i dont know if i missed you
Or if im blowing this tissue, because i only miss you
Rather than no id not risk you
Thats not a frown i like, how is it now you decide
Ill go to town if i like, be round about 5
Your future lies in you seeing new guys
You'll feel new eyes on you you'll need to lie about this
And me you like wise too.

We can never be friends
One wants to stay together
One wants it to end
We can never be friends
We can make it easy.

Mistake a little, wait for an ache
Mistake loneliness to mean only us
An addiction to a fix of praise
Rely on me to say its ok
There is only room for one in this sun
There was only one of me and you once
And you want to want another few loves
In the night let it fly to the light
All the bits you miss from your ex
Commitment, kissing and sex
Are what you'll insist from the next
Are what you'll insist from the next
But is it who dares wins, or only who knows goes
Frank Brunos nose has seen too many blows
Your bitter then its better to pretend not bicker
Its butters when it festers it fucks all the fun
This is us fizzling
But with added little pangs
We reached the end, you'll never see me again.

We can never be friends
One wants to stay together
One wants it to end

We can never be friends
We can make it easy.

We can never be friends
One wants to stay together
One wants it to end
We can never be friends
We can make it easy.

We can never be friends
One wants to stay together
One wants it to end
We can never be friends
We can make it easy.
