

Stromkern

"The Only Thing That Matters"

Visit "The Only Thing That Matters" on MotoLyrics.com

I watched as you rushed out the door and into the rain Leaving crowded conversation, lacking comfort therein
And fearing you'd succumb to grief and be swept away
I followed in your footsteps and trailed in your wake

So you'd know, you're not alone

Then you fell into my arms and cried out between sobs
You said 'why did this have to happen?' and 'why couldn't it be stopped?'
And staring through the darkness and into your face I said,
'my dear there are some things that no one can change'

But know you're not alone just tell me you know that you're not alone

when everything around you begins to tumble down and the world starts tasting sour, as surely it is bound to
I know it isn't easy but don't you give up on me Always remember this, cause it's the only thing that matters at all!

No one said it's easy Letting go, accepting When you're hoping that it might change
And clinging to the memories

You say, 'I'm not a strong girl, and it's alright,
But I don't think that I take this much more'
I say, 'I feel the same way, but it's alright Just stay in my arms and tell me you know

you're not alone
just tell me you know
you're not alone

when everything around you begins to tumble down

and the world starts tasting sour, as surely it is bound
to
I know it isn't easy but don't you give up on me
Always remember this, cause it's the only thing that matters at allâ€¦

That you hold on, hold on, just hold on

Well just Hold your breath and look out the window Know the clouds won't hang forever seasons always change, eventually and as tortured thoughts scream out like a banshee drain your hope and tear at your valor think of what I said and promise me you'll hold onâ€¦

Now breathe again with eyes out the window, watch the clouds start to dissolve replacing grief with a thousand memories feel it coming back again forcing all the wounds to mend and patching all the holes punched in your life, and making it alright

when everything around you begins to tumble down
and the world starts tasting sour, as surely it is bound
to
I know it isn't easy but don't you give up on me
And always know that you are not aloneâ€¦

Visit Stromkern page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.