Shoot me down and I'll get up again
Emotion running high with double meaning Just another day to keep it calm within
But I can't find a way to fight this shadow dreaming

We're always waiting for the night
Never lost, we can go where the light shines brightest
We're always waiting for the night
So come with me - and we can go where the light shines brightest

Stay all night, runaway all night
We'll stay all night runaway all night...

Push and shove against the thoughts you left me with Every picture of regret my expectation
Your emotions can't hide behind those eyes
Conversations come quick to steal me back again

We're always waiting for the night
Never lost coz we can go where the light shines brightest
We're always waiting for the night
shines brightest

Stay all night, runaway all night
We'll stay all night runaway all night...
