The happy hour is over and the crowd is gone

That old jukebox is silent I'm by myself till dawn

And for the first time since you said goodbye I feel so alone

Missing you just started hittin' home

Missing you just started hittin' home

Of all the things I've ever done

Why did I have to do you wrong

And if I've got to hurt this bad

Then I don't wanna to live too long

Missing you just started hittin' home

I wonder what you're doing and how far you've gone

And I wonder how I'll ever make it here alone

'Cause I got no place to be and I'm just barely hangin' on

Missing you just started hittin' home

Missing you just started hittin' home

Of all the things I've ever done

Why did I have to do you wrong

And if I've got to hurt this bad

Then I don't wanna to live too long

Missing you just started hittin' home

Missing you just started hittin' home
