

Submarines, The "Darkest Things"

Visit "Darkest Things" on MotoLyrics.com the more delicate the task you find the shakier the hand you try to understand and fight it all that you need has brought you to your knees trembling with greed still you fight it and it's funny how the darkest things you only find when you've been searching don't back down from what you need guiltiness it only makes you mean when you're alone would you put your hands through the camera lens to reach her behind the screen does she call your name when you hear it through the stream do you fight it well it's funny how the darkest things you only find with light you bring

don't back down from what you need
guiltiness it only makes you mean

so here we are lovers in a room breathing oxygen still you fight it come move my hands i will not break down or turn into a pop up advertisement

and it's funny how the darkest things you only find
when you've been searching
don't back down from what you need
guiltiness it only makes you mean

i'd have waited a lifetime for a sign only to fall apart when love arrives but we're coming home

Visit Submarines, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.