I'm gonna move to Newlyn
Find the light inside of me
Sail the Irish sea to Dublin
What will life ever make of me?

I see the kids play in the street
In their world so happily
My cousin Rick he still believes
There's a world he's yet to see
Carry on or fade away
Eventually there comes a day
We all see we are the same
With different things we choose to say
But what will you say?

I'm gonna hitch up to Glasgow
Learn all the tricks I ought to know
An open book is still a mystery
So what will life ever make of me?

I see the kids play in the street
In their world so happily
My cousin Rick he still believes
There's a world he's yet to see
Carry on or fade away
Eventually there comes a day
We all see we are the same
With different things we choose to say
But what will you say?

Over and down though hills and towns
In sunshine and in rain
No holding back, relief in that
I'll never feel the same
I'll go my own way

I see the kids play in the street
In their world so happily
My cousin Rick he still believes
There's a world he's yet to see
Carry on or fade away

Eventually there comes a day
We all see we are the same
With different things we choose to say
But what will you say?
