I am young
But I know where I am from
Times have changed
Good times have been and gone
And all the while, I walk
I'll keep walking on
The things I've done, I can't
I can't change them no more
And I should learn
That I must wait my turn
I'm trying to stand
Even if my eye should burn
In the sun
I lost my way
I got lost on the way home
Nothing's changed
You're no more locked in my room
And all the while, I walk
I'll keep walking on
The things I've done, I can't
I can't change them no more
And I should learn
That I must wait my turn
I'm trying to stand
Even if my eye should burn
In the sun, in the sun
And I should learn
That I must wait my turn
I'm trying to stand
Even if my eye should burn
In the sun, in the sun
