"Chasing The Dragon"

We all just fade away, this jungle is too much, but we fight through every waking day, through the pain, through the strain, shadow box to the main stage, we're the main event, we are all dead, have we lost our heads? it just doesn't make sense anymore....

All my dreams are set in stone, all my goals made into gold, but i've watched them fall time and time again until i go blind, i've watched them decrystalize, i've watched them turn to ice and crash and fall and melt to the crust of this earth, it's all just a ticking time bomb...
I wanna watch it all come down...

And through it all, i look to the very end and you're miles away, slowly digging my grave...

I am just melting away, you're such a killer, you're just one step away...

I have nothing, I am nothing but dirt, I want to run away from this nightmare, this sinking feeling is in my head, i feel the dragon rushing through my veins,

And tear it out...

I wanna get away,

I wanna run away...
