its safe to say
it will all be over in just one day in spite of that you've left behind you always remember times when at least we had our friends but you already know they can't come back
so leave it all behind
and abuse yourself instead
pushing forward back
never looking back
turn around and face the forward when you fall down in spite of all that you learn somehow there will always be time to take seems i've been here once before
you can't go back
and anew yourself instead
and I have found nothing still searching for something
and renew yourself instead
never looking back
why do I still miss home? Its been so long...
(why do we leave? why do we need a home?)
