RAIN - Pussycat

(Werner Theunissen)

Loving him was easier one sunny day just a simple touch could make me fly away kisses on a summer evening looking at a bird, that's leaving for the sky should I wonder why
I can't feel the falling rain
I can't feel the falling rain
Up set to be alone
So please don't take me home Rain falling down on me you may cover the trace of tears on my face he'd rather see
rain, rain, rain
falling ev'rywhere
on a bright summer morning
he'll call again
don't let him try in vain
feel the rain

Trees are crying rivers down the cloudy hills raindrops chase away the lonely daffodils memories of loving last night looking at the broken twilight maybe I shouldn't wonder why

I can't feel the falling rain

I can't feel the falling rain

Up set to be alone

So please don't take me home

feel the rain

I can't feel the falling rain

rain, rain, rain falling rain

I can't feel the falling rain
