She looked up in shock.
She asked, is this what you want?
Well, I don't know, but it's been breaking my heart.
I'm so sorry, Mike.
It shouldn't happen like this.
We're best friends forever, but this is abandonment.
(It's all my fault, again. I could have changed for you.)

I sit in this tower.
Let's hope that it falls down, so I'll be left down in the dirt.
'Cause everything I want, I can see, if I could only reach, reach.

And tell me the reason why everyone I know, all of their eyes go to see farther than the people and places.
Familiar faces keep haunting all of my memories.
(It's all my fault, again. I could have changed for you.)

I sit in this tower.
Let's hope that it falls down, so I'll be left down in the dirt.
'Cause everything I want, I can see, if I could only reach, reach.

I sit in this tower.
Let's hope that it falls down, so I'll be left down in the dirt.
'Cause everything I want, I can see, if I could only reach.

I woke up in shock.
I finally got what I want, but it's all a dream.
And it's time to wake up.
I witnessed a vision of my angel lying.
You'll carve out your soul, the death of beautiful.
Beautiful.
Beautiful.
