Do you ever wonder where
We would be if we'd have tried
A little harder?
It seems like yesterday
That we were making plans
For the future
But it's been so long
Since I have more of the dreams
Those dreams we left abandoned
And I'm haunted by your face
And the memory of your kisses
Sweet kisses
Do you remember?
I still remember so much
I remember never feeling so alive
Do you remember?
I still can't forget your touch
We swore that we would never end
We knew our love transcended space and time
As memories slip away
The ghost of what we were

Is fading

But there is no more pain

Which is funny 'cause that night

I was dying

I was dying

Now I don't even recognize

The girl I swore that someday

I would marry

But I can't forget her face

And I can't forget her kisses

Sweet kisses

Do you remember?

I still remember so much

I remember always feeling so alive

Do you remember?

I still can't forget your touch

We swore that we would never end

We knew our love transcended space and time

Do you remember?

I still remember so much

I remember never feeling so alive

Do you remember?

I still can't forget your touch

Or how we swore that we would never be alone

Do you remember?

I still remember so much

I remember never feeling so alive

Do you remember?

'Cause I still can't forget your touch

Or how we swore that we would never end

We knew our love transcend space and time

Do you remember?

God I remember so much

I remember so much
